About our pricing – The most difficult & time-consuming aspect of developing a web site is developing a creative theme and the graphics needed to pull it all together. Each package is priced to account for the level of graphic design work and advanced scripting required for the site development. Each site poses unique challenges and no two companies require the same things. The larger a site gets, the more challenging it is to organize and develop a solid working architecture and navigation system as well as time spent editing, proofing, correcting, and revising. All of this has been taken into consideration with regards to our plan pricing. We do our best to be flexible and fair and to accommodate each client's individual needs while remaining within the plans defined per page pricing. This is not always easy to do with a predefined plan. If you have questions or concerns, please feel free to contact us.
